

WrestleMania Red Carpet Interviews

Conan O'Brien introduces a filmed spot where there's a Red Carpet outside WrestleMania. The usual interviewers (Maria Menounos, Ryan Seacrest, Giuliana Rancic, etc.) are decked out in their usual tuxes and gowns. As wrestlers walk into the arena in costume, they're asked the usual questions - who they're wearing ("Vlad The Impaler", "The tag team of Dolce & Gabbana", "Gay Biker Couture", "Big Hugo Bossman", "Coco B. Ware"); what they're looking forward to seeing ("Woman's Champ Angie O'Plasty", "The barbed-wire, thumb tacks, and flaming baseball bat celebrity match", "Queen Elizabeth" [insert a video of the Queen waving, all decked out in her most royal crown and clothes as though she's arriving at WrestleMania]); and what this means to them (Everyone uses the exact same phrase to reverently thank God, then the final one [a bad guy dressed in black with Satanic-looking images painted on his face] shriekingly thanks "Beelzebub the Deceiver, Lord of the Dark Underworld, the Lawless Ruler of Eternal Damnation, and, of course, my recently deceased agent who's looking up at me now. [Points down]. We did it, Ira!") Cut to Menounos who is completely disheveled and covered in barbed wire, thumb tacks, and holding a flaming bat, who says, "Back to you, Conan."